Complying with accessibility codes and laws are often an elusive topic for building owners. Whether your project is an individual office or a multi-tenant environment, a thorough site survey will identify potential barriers in your project. Addressing these barriers as alterations are made will allow full access into and through your building. Parking is often the most prominent issue barring access to a site. By resolving non-compliant parking and exterior routes, your property becomes inviting to all customers and visitors.

Readily removable barriers under the ADA are often a concern for existing public accommodations. Texas laws may also affect exterior and interior elements in addition to planned alterations. Atelier is well versed in requirements of ADA, ABA and Texas Accessibility. Learn where compliance is required in your project through a comprehensive site analysis. We'll address interior common areas, parking and accessible routes. Customized surveys are tailored to meet your specific needs.
